Not all of the youth who drop into HomePlate dinners are sleeping on the streets. Home Plate serves anyone under 24 who is facing housing insecurity. These kids may be couch surfing at the houses of friends, sleeping in vehicles or garages, or bouncing around among family members. And some of them do sleep on the streets. Once in a while they find roommates to share an inexpensive, hard to get apartment. This can be good when roommates support each other, but it can also lead frictions. Roommate frustrations between two long-time Home Plate youth surfaced at a recent dinner. Please pray for them to be able to resolve it.
